10 Reasons We Support Oregon's Organic Agriculture

- Organically grown foods must meet strict USDA standards.
- Organically grown foods are grown without persistent pesticides or chemical fertilizers.
- Organically grown foods taste great.
- Organic farms are great stewards of our state's farmland.
- Oregon's organic farms are managed by families who are active members in their local communities.
- Oregon's organic farms are located close to their customers.
- Organic farms protect the diversity of species and plant genetics in our landscapes.
- Oregon's organic farms grow a feast for the senses.
- Supporting Oregon's organic farms means ensuring that the state will continue to possess a diverse mix of family farms and that your food dollars will remain in the state to benefit local communities.
- Supporting Oregon's organic agriculture allows you to eat with the seasons.
